U.S. Manufacturing: Calling all suppliers!

Walmart committed to purchase an additional $250 billion in products made, sourced or grown in the U.S. by 2023. By investing in products that support American jobs, Walmart can play a role in accelerating growth in U.S. manufacturing.

To underscore Walmart's commitment we are hosting our 4th Open Call for new U.S.-made products. This unique event is open to both current and potential US suppliers and will be hosted at our corporate offices on June 28, 2017 in Bentonville, Arkansas. Buyers will be on hand to meet one on one with selected companies during the event.

Proposing Items to New Buyers

Want to propose items to a new buyer when you're already an existing supplier to Walmart? To help you understand the best way to approach this we have created a helpful document, available at the link below. It provides useful advice such as ensuring you're in good standing with a current buyer and using your WOB network to find out more information about the new buyer.

C200 Protege Program

The Committee of 200 (C200), an organization of the world's most successful women entrepreneurs and corporate innovators, is currently accepting applications for The C200 Protégé Program. Through mentoring and education, The C200 Protégé Program is designed to help businesses scale in both profit and productivity. Qualified candidates are high-potential women entrepreneurs with annual revenues and/or funding of more than $5 million. They are also committed to growing their businesses.

The C200 Protégé Program works. The program reports that the first graduating class average revenues grew 36.98% and profit grew 239%. The next class will begin in 2018. For more information, please contact Sioban Lombardi, Associate Director, The C200 Foundation, (312) 255-0296 x 109, slombardi@c200.org.
