

NEW STUDY SHOWS

Walmart is bringing greater retail, jobs and fiscal benefits than predicted in Washington, DC

Revenue For The City

2 open stores generate more than $6 Million
in annual tax revenues.

Economic Development

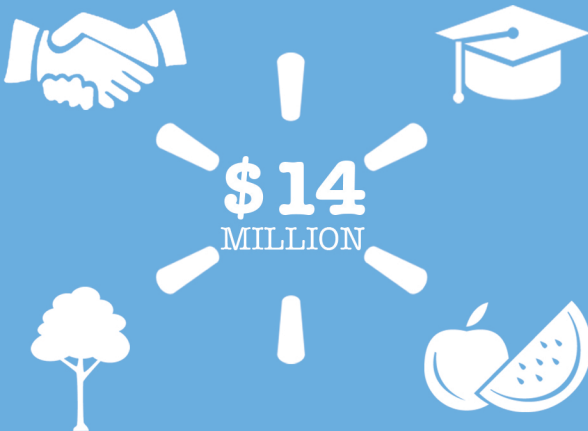

Walmart is an anchor for the residential and retail developments it's in. New ancillary retail has opened adjacent to the 2 open stores.

Fitness Factory
We Build Bodies

Charitable Giving

200+

Local Not-For-Profit Organizations
Have Benefitted

Jobs

Over 700 people are directly employed at open locations; 65% of associates are DC residents.

810 total jobs (direct and multiplier) result from Walmart's two open stores.

630 construction jobs (direct and multiplier) were created during the building of three stores.

Access To Healthy Food

Over 40% of Walmart store sales in DC are from grocery items.

Each Walmart is located in a USDA identified food desert, where healthy food options make up less than 10% of local retail offerings.

Savings For Families

Walmart has brought affordable shopping to the District, saving the average family of four $1,300 per year in groceries.

Average annual cost of food for a family of four is $7,300.

Average discount below other chain grocery stores is 18%.

A 2014 Economic Impact study prepared by HR&A Advisors, Inc. confirms that Walmart has a positive economic impact in Washington, DC.